Presidential Words For December 2021

A lot has happened in the last month and there are quite a few things coming up.

Mt Coot-tha Exhibition

First, let me start with some fantastic news. The Mt Coot-tha Exhibition held last weekend achieved our best ever result with sales of $19,100 which is some $5,000 better than the existing record. On top of this, the café and door raffle also generated $1,400 in revenue. Thank you to all the exhibitors and volunteers who contributed over the weekend, including those who stepped up at the last minute to cover some unplanned absences. Whilst not wishing to single anyone out, I think special thanks are due to those at the sales counter who were under a lot of pressure for much of the weekend to process and wrap the purchases and keep the queue to an acceptable length.

The Saturday Morning Crowd

The Steady Flow of Customers at the Sales Counter

The final result for the weekend is yet to be determined as some expenses are still outstanding, but our finances will receive a welcome boost following the cancellation of the August exhibition.

Apart from the financial outcome, we also took many membership enquiries and received a new membership application.

Long Serving Members

During the month, it was a pleasure to present 30-year membership badges to John Byrne and Derek Giles who both joined the Society in September 1991. They have both joined an elite group of 17 members with more than 30 years' membership. "Special" morning teas were held to acknowledge their achievement and to thank them for helping to develop the club that we know today.

Patron Ian McKenzie Presents Derek Giles with his 30 Year Badge

Special General Meeting

Our Special General Meeting was held on Tuesday 16 November, and we were honoured to have our Patron, Ian McKenzie in attendance. At the meeting, the constitution changes to comply with new legislation and to assist with our charity status application were approved.

It was my pleasure to announce that the Member of the Year Award winner is Alan Loxton. Alan is always the first to volunteer, especially for the “dirty jobs”, and quietly beavers away in the background. It is members like Alan who form the backbone of the Society. Congratulations Alan; a well deserved recognition.

Binny Willis presented Alan with his well-earned award a week after it was announced.

Also at the meeting, our committee for 2022 was declared unopposed. The committee is

President	John Reed
Vice President	Mike Dunne
Secretary	Binny Willis
Treasurer	Mallick Ramlackhan
Committee Members	Alwyn Clark
	Barry Wilson
	Bob Kennedy
	Brian Creese
	John Donaldson
	Philip Oostenbroek
	Reg Weber

My thanks to retiring member, William Darbishire, for his contribution to the committee this year, particularly in relation to the constitution review and to the charity registration process. Welcome to Mallick who has volunteered to take on the Treasurer’s role, and to Brian for his third stint on the committee. I look forward to working with you next year.

Other Club Positions

During the year, I have raised on several occasions the need for volunteers to assist with the numerous tasks required for the Society to run efficiently. Following the SGM, we went through a process of filling these volunteer positions. The outcome is:

Safety Officer		Vacant
Providore		John Carney

As you can see, there are still a few vacancies, so if you have experience and/or you are interested in these positions, please let me know and we can discuss what the roles entail.

Christmas Party

At the last committee meeting it was decided that, as we are still restricted by the one person per two square metre rule until at least 17 December, it will be impractical to hold a sit down Christmas party so, reluctantly, we have cancelled it again this year.

In lieu, we will hold a sausage sizzle type lunch on Tuesday 14 December, following the annual workshop clean up. All are welcome to both the clean-up and lunch; there will be no workshop fee that day.

Vaccination Status

Also at the meeting, it was decided that, in view of the demographics of our membership, we will require all members and visitors to be fully vaccinated from 1 January 2022. Upon entry, after checking in with the “Check In Qld” app, you will be required to show your phone to the convenor as proof of your vaccination status. If you don’t have a phone, please provide a copy of your vaccination certificate to our Membership Secretary, Alwyn Clark, so that your status can be recorded.

There are a few different ways to add the COVID certificate to the app, and for those who are unsure how to link it, I suggest you look at the following site:

<https://www.covid19.qld.gov.au/check-in-qld/digital-vaccination-certificate>

Our New Website

After much work, our new website went live last week. My thanks to Toni Dowd, Richard Symes and Mike Dunne for their efforts in getting this long-awaited project to fruition. Please have a look at the website at www.wsqld.org.au; I’m sure you will be impressed.

In conjunction with the launch, we also took the opportunity to refresh our logo, with the result being:

It would be remiss of me not to acknowledge the efforts of Gary Bidgood in managing the old website over more years than I can recall. Thank you, Gary!

Woodworkers “Must Have” Raffle

The raffle was drawn at the close of the Mt Coot-tha Exhibition with the winner of both prizes being our member, Don McMillan. I’ll make sure I have my arm around Don next time I buy a ticket in the hope that his luck rubs off! Congratulations Don!

The raffle raised $2,530 for the club. This would not have been possible without the generous support of our sponsors:

Christmas Markets

We have been invited to participate in two Christmas Markets. Firstly, at the Bunnings Mt Gravatt Christmas Night Markets, and secondly, at the Wellers Hill Bowls Club. Please see the later article for more details. Your support of these events is encouraged as they are excellent opportunities to enhance our exposure and relationships with the community.

Bunnings Sausage Sizzle

Bunnings Mt Gravatt has kindly allocated us another sausage sizzle on Sunday 23 January 2022. As this is shortly after our January re-opening, we are now asking for volunteers. The more we have, the less time you will need to spend at the sausage sizzle. When volunteering, please also indicate if you can assist to load up the eskies, supplies etc. at Pine Street and to return them in the afternoon and to account for the unused supplies. Most are probably unaware that we are required to provide Bunnings with an accurate accounting of what we sell. These tasks have recently fallen to a couple of people, and it makes a long day for them.

A volunteer's sheet will be on the notice board at Pine St. If you won't be on premises, you can advise John Carney of your availability at jscarney83@gmail.com or on 0449 011 759.

Please lock it into your calendar.

Until next month,

John Reed
President

WSQ Polo Shirts

It has been more than a few years since the last batch of WSQ polo shirts was ordered. A look around the workshop will reveal that these shirts have been well loved and are starting to look a bit well worn. It's time to order some new ones so that new and old members can spruce themselves up in the club's colours.

An order will be placed for the supply of these shirts on February 8 next year. Orders must be with me by midday.

It is anticipated that the cost of the shirts will remain at $55. The shirts are not supplied with pockets. Members requiring pockets will be supplied with sufficient material to have a pocket sewn on.

Members wanting to buy one, or more, of these shirts can order by emailing me at donwmcmillan@hotmail.com, or phoning/texting me on 0439 704 622. You should include your name, quantity required, size, and phone number. Alternatively, you can add your details to a list that will be placed on the Notice Board.

Library News

As of January 2022, Peter Wyer will be the Librarian. We are still looking for an assistant, until we do, I will assist him.

I will be continuing as Membership Secretary.

Jest a Moment

Where to go without leaving home

I have been in many places in my life, but I've never been in Cahoots. Apparently, you can't go alone. You have to be in Cahoots with someone.

I've also never been in Cognito. I hear no one recognises you there.

I have, however been in Sane. They don't have an airport; you have to be driven there. I have made several trips there, thanks to my friends and family. I live close so it's a short drive.

I would like to go to Conclusions, but you have to jump, and I'm not too much on physical activity anymore.

I have also been in Doubt. That is a sad place to go, and I try not to visit there too often.

I've been in Flexible, but only when it was very important to stand firm.

Sometimes I'm in Capable, and I go there more often as I'm getting older.

One of my favourite places to be is in Suspense! It really gets the adrenalin flowing and pumps up the old heart! At my age I need all the stimuli I can get!

And, sometimes I think I am in Vincible but life shows me I am not.

People keep telling me I'm in Denial but I'm positive I've never been there before!

I have been in Deepshit many times; the older I get, the easier it is to get there. I actually kind of enjoy it there.

So far, I haven't been in Continent, but my travel agent says it is on the list.

Date Claimers for Demonstrations and Show & Tell Forums

Our Demonstrations on the first Saturday morning of each month are an excellent way to learn new skills and ideas from our talented demonstrators. You will have the opportunity to ask questions of our demonstrators and see a project evolve before your very eyes.

The Show & Tell Forum on the third Saturday morning of each month are designed to give you a couple of weeks to have a go at the project demonstrated the fortnight before, and bring your complete or incomplete attempt to receive feedback on your efforts. This is a fabulous learning opportunity, particularly for relatively new members and those wishing to further develop their mastery of skills and techniques.

Secretary's Jottings

Important information from the Management Committee meeting held on 13 November 2021.

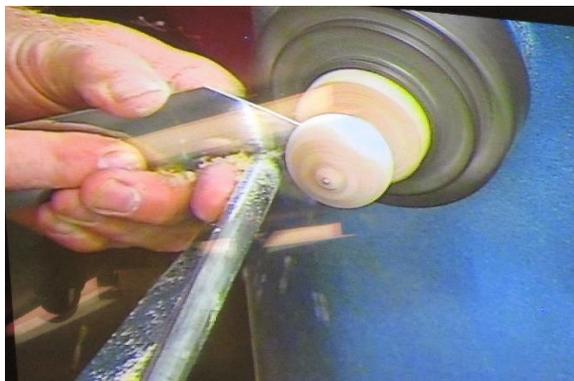

1. In his Finance Report, the Treasurer noted that the Solar Panels are now paid off. This represents a significant reduction in the monthly bills and money that can be re-directed elsewhere. He noted there is still concern with expenditure and it was reiterated that all expenditure must be cleared with the President, Vice President and Treasurer before any costs are incurred.
2. Phil Oostenbroek volunteered his services as a JP to members attending Pine St. on a Tuesday morning.
3. John Reed has finalized the Competition review committee and they will commence a thorough review early in the new year.
4. There was a considerable discussion about the preparations for the Mt Coot-tha Exhibition. It was noted that there was a severe shortage of volunteers and unless more come forward, exhibitors will have to be rostered to fill in the vacant spots.
5. Bob Kennedy reported that 3 new Convenors had successfully completed their course and would be added to the workshop roster.
6. Work has commenced on developing the 2022 Calendar.
7. There was much discussion on the opportunity to participate in a Christmas Market at Bunnings Wecker Rd on Thursday evening 9/12 and at the Wellers Hill Bowls Club on 12/12 between 10am and 4pm with members being asked to donate items and all proceeds going to WSQ.
8. With great reluctance it was decided not to go ahead with the Christmas Party as we are still required to abide by the social distancing rules in the Auditorium.
9. The plans for the SGM on 16/11 were reviewed noting that a nomination for all positions had been received by the due date and Derek Giles would be presented with his 30 year Membership Badge by our Patron, Ian McKenzie. Sue Kennedy would prepare the morning tea.
10. It was resolved that there would be 2 hours added to the January meeting for a review of the Strategic Plan and the determination of the 2022 priority actions.
11. Mike Dunne reported that the launch of the new WSQ website was imminent and that he was receiving instructions on how to add items of interest.
12. Bob Kennedy reported that the mandated Fire Drill had been successfully completed and the appropriate entry made in Fire Evacuation Record.

the blank into. He shaped the blank such that the tail stock end had a smaller diameter than the other end. Ian used a parting tool to create a spigot just clear of the chuck jaws. Using a spindle gouge, he hollowed out a couple of mm of waste, leaving a collar which he rounded the edges of. Next, he sanded the blank and applied Triple E polish, except to the inside of the collar at the top. Ian used a parting tool to shape a bevel to the bottom edge. This creates a shadow line to the figure making it appear to be floating above the ground. He used a 1 mm parting tool to cut the figure from the waste in the chuck.

The Body Being Parted Off

Ian inserted a drive dog in the chuck and mounted the Tasmanian Oak blank on the lathe. The target diameter for the head is 35 mm. He rounded the blank with a roughing gouge. Next, he created a small spigot at the tailstock end and reversed the blank into the chuck. Using a skew chisel and a spindle gouge Ian created a small point about 3 mm above the surface. This was to become a nose with a bit more work. The next challenge was to create a sphere by eye without damaging the nose using a spindle gouge with light cuts and shear scraping. He used a parting tool to remove waste near the chuck and then shaped and refined the finish so the connection to the timber in the chuck was greatly reduced. Ian lightly sanded the blank and applied some finish. He used a 1 mm parting tool to cut the head from the blank.

The Head Being Parted Off

Ian inserted a drive dog in the chuck and mounted the Hairy Oak blank on the lathe. He rounded the blank with a roughing gouge. Next, he created a small spigot at the tailstock end and reversed the blank into the chuck. He reduced the diameter of the blank to be suitable to fit on to the head section. Using a spindle gouge, he hollowed out a couple of mm of waste, leaving a collar which he rounded the edges of. He reduced the diameter of the blank as he approached the chuck, in a conical shape. He created a spherical shape near the chuck jaws, then he sanded the blank and applied finish. He used a fine parting tool to remove the completed hat.

Ian replaced the chuck with another fitted with pin jaws. Using a length of dowel, he created spherical "hands" about 10 mm long with arms of 2 to 3 mm in diameter. He made 2 of these. The lathe was not used any further.

Ian undertook the following finishing tasks:

- He created a music book out of 18 mm square timber stock.
- He used pyrography tools to decorate the music book and to create eyes on the head.
- Using a handheld power drill, he drilled holes in the 3 main components to allow them to be joined with small bits of dowel, together with glue. The arms were also glued into holes drilled into the front of the body, and the music book was glued to the arms.

The Demo Piece with a Scarf to Keep it Warm

The audience expressed their appreciation of Ian's wonderful demonstration with a hearty round of applause. At the risk of seeming to trivialize the demonstration, I thought it was a lot of fun.

Maintenance Monday

On Monday 1 November, Reg Weber coordinated the 6 monthly service of the lathes at Pine St. and a further check on the chucks. Many of the chucks had received care and attention at the Chuck Clinic that he convened on the first Saturday of October, but it was still found necessary to replace the pin stops on 2 of them. This just goes to show how much wear and tear the chucks get.

We had one new apprentice to the maintenance gang this time – Mallick Ramlackhan – whose tutelage was personally undertaken by Reg himself. It was very pleasing that we did have a new recruit, but we are certainly looking for many more to share the responsibility of looking after our equipment.

banjoes and tailstocks of each of the lathes. Wear, and particularly unusual wear, was carefully noted on the checklist and dealt with appropriately. Generally, the lathes were in very good working order – the result of Reg's careful maintenance program and his attention to safety requirements.

I absolutely recommend answering Reg's call for volunteers for a Maintenance Monday. It is a great opportunity to learn how to maintain your own lathe at home and to service your own chucks. It is an even greater opportunity to work with your fellow members to service and maintain our Society's equipment to ensure that the huge investment is well cared for and kept safe for our use. The camaraderie that develops by working as a team on our common property is also something rather special.

20 November Show & Tell Forum

The Show and Tell Forum for November was a rather quiet affair with only four of us there. However, it was a very interesting morning.

Peter Wyer brought along his chorister made in the likeness of Ian Symes' demonstration piece. Peter had added his own personal touches to the little figure and it looked quite jaunty in its checked scarf. He reported that it was not difficult to turn, just a bit fiddly in places. He also brought along three of the exquisite Christmas tree decorations that he had prepared for his table at Mt Coot-tha.

Peter Wyer's chorister and tree decorations

Don McMillan brought along a texturing tool that he had recently purchased from New Zealand for a fraction of the cost of others that are on the market. It came with a range of interchangeable wheels, and he reported that it was very easy to use. It obviously works very well if the effects on the lidded boxes in the picture are anything to go by. He purchased it from Timberly, a woodworking supply store in Hunua, New Zealand. (www.timberly.co.nz).

Don also brought along two works in progress to show examples of his basket weave design skills. Both were incomplete and so it was somewhat easier to understand the technique and the process involved in using this type of embellishment.

Don McMillan's basket weave embellishment

Neil Howard has recently built himself a sand-blasting station using bits and pieces, the actual chamber being a plastic tub he purchased from the Reject Shop. The piece of waste timber shows the effect of sand-blasting on the bark of a piece of jacaranda. It is very much the case that the photo does not do the effect justice.

Don McMillan's new texturing tool

Neil Howard's sand blasting experiment

It was a very interesting morning and a great learning experience. Mark 19 February in your 2022 diary for the next Show & Tell. Bring along something that you have turned or made, or a tool that you have made or recently been gifted or purchased, or a problem with a piece that it not going to plan. Or just yourself, to listen to the discussion and learn from your fellow members. It is always a morning well spent

Market Day Opportunities

A not unexpected outcome from the Covid-19 pandemic has been the disruption of international supply chains that has forced people to be more focused on purchasing locally made products. Nationally, people are seeking out local suppliers and more sustainable options over low-cost, mass-produced items from overseas manufacturers. Wooden, hand-made items are a "natural" in this environment.

Locally, our community is no different. Everyone is motivated to "Buy Local", and organisations are arranging activities to support local craft/artisan/suppliers.

WSQ has been invited to participate in two local community Market Days in the next 2 weeks - one at Bunnings Mt Gravatt (Cnr Creek and Wecker Roads, 9 December, 6-9PM) and the other at Weller's Hill Bowls Club (12 December, 10AM-4PM). These events are an ideal opportunity for us to get some valuable local community exposure and maybe raise a few dollars for WSQ at the same time.

To participate we need some of your turned items to sell and a few good men/women to sell them.

We are looking for donations of turned items or wood working projects, suitable for sale at a Market. Those unsold items from Mt Coot-tha might be a good start. Xmas tree decorations, small boxes, bowls, platters, spinning tops, pens, mice, rolling pins, cutting boards, pencil cases - anything that might appeal to people purchasing for family and friends at this festive time. The Toy Group have already generously supplied a variety of toys. I'm sure they will be in hot demand.

I have also been generously loaned some quality 'not for sale' items that show-case our craft, to exhibit on the days. These beautiful objects may just motivate a local to join our group or get involved in woodworking.

Time is short, so can you please leave your items at Pine Street on or before 7 December. If you are able to lend a hand on the day, please contact me on any of the following:
